

TEXAS MONTHLY'S
SUPER DOCTORS®
RISING STARS 2021

Looking for your area's
BEST ENDOCRINOLOGISTS?
They're right in your neighborhood!

We congratulate and are grateful for our exceptional endocrinologists who continually demonstrate our patient-first values in the communities we serve.

We are excited to announce that three Texas Diabetes & Endocrinology (TD&E) physicians were featured in the July, 2021 issue of Texas Monthly in its list of Texas Super Doctors ® : Rising Stars Edition 2021. Selected for this year's Rising Star Super Doctor honor are Drs. Luis Casaubon, Lindsay Harrison, & Tira Chaicha-Brom.

Thousands of medical professionals in Texas were asked to nominate one or more doctors, other than themselves, from 45 specified medical specialties, asking who they would choose in seeking medical care. Approximately 2.5% of all active physicians are selected by their peers to the Rising Stars list. This rigorous process is designed to identify physicians who have attained a higher degree of peer recognition, who have shown excellence in the healthcare field and who are already making an impact early in their careers.